THE HISTORICAL HERITAGE

From the opening of its doors in 1912 as a normal school for training teachers to its present status as a multipurpose university, Memphis State has been inevitably thrust forward by the growth of Memphis and the Mid-South. A town oriented to a rural economy and culture in 1900 grew into a large urban and commercial center by mid-century, and the city's public institution of higher learning experienced comparable growth.

Memphis State's development has been typical of other major universities coming into prominence since World War II in an emerging modern South. As a public institution in a relatively poor state, Memphis State's destiny has been closely related to the attitudes of governors, legislators, newspaper editors, and members of governing boards. Their perception of public educational needs determined a college's role. The realities of state politics meant that a notion of "democracy" would define admission policies, academic programs, and the financing of a "peoples" college. Unfortunately for Memphis State, until a decade and a half ago these leaders assumed that Tennessee could afford only one state university.

Nevertheless, from normal school for a few hundred students (1912-1925), to teachers' college with a better staff and an enrollment of up to a thousand (1925-1941), to state college with an expanded curriculum in liberal arts, business, and graduate education for three to four thousand students (1941-1957), the institution finally became a full university in 1957.

As the city of Memphis prospered and exceeded a half million population, the demand for a completely developed, comprehensive public university could not be denied. Other state universities were too distant to help and local private colleges were limited in curricular offerings and the number of students they could accommodate. At last, legislators and board members changed their minds about Memphis State's role and began channeling the resources necessary to meet the educational needs of Memphis and West Tennessee. This change resulted only partially from impersonal forces reflected in census returns; it always required forceful leadership from concerned local citizens, several presidents, alumni and faculty members.

The metropolitan requirements for more highly trained university graduates have of necessity caused Memphis State to expand all of its offerings in arts and sciences, business administration, education, graduate work (including the doctorate in ten disciplines), law, engineering, continuing education for all ages of people, and nursing, in addition to several special non-degree programs.

For the most part, Memphis State has experienced constructive racial integration, fortunately avoiding the disruptions that wracked other colleges. From eight black students in 1959 to two thousand by 1970, Negro students have made the goal of democratic education a reality at Memphis State. By 1977 minority students at MSU (including Americans of oriental, Spanish, and Indian background and foreign students) increased to 18.1% of the total enrollment.

Recently, all aspects of the University's operation have developed rapidly. From 1960 to the present, for example, the number of full-time faculty members increased from 200 to 771; library holdings from 80,000 to 667,000 bound volumes; the operating budget from $2,373,000 to $39,988,244; campus acreage from 85 to 1,160 acres; and campus value (land, buildings, equipment) from $17,000,000 to $89,325,924.

Now, as the enrollment settles down in the 20,000 range, the University strives to build its academic, research, and public service programs to match its recent physical expansion. Only sixty-five years ago Memphis State was a little normal school; today it is a regionally recognized university with a most promising future.

ACADEMIC DRESS

The following information is to help our visitors identify the costumes seen in the commencement procession.

Academic dress originated at universities in the Middle Ages when a warm gown and hood were necessary in unheated buildings. For centuries these gowns distinguished students from their fellow citizens; sometimes this distinction in dress symbolized unfortunate controversies between "town and gown". The European habit of using academic robes came to this country in the eighteenth century with the founding of what is now Columbia University. In 1895 American universities and colleges standardized their styles of academic costumes, and this system, with occasional modifications, is still in force. Today the various colors, trimmings, and patterns of gown, hood, and cap are all traditional and symbolize both the degree and field of learning.

GOWNS: American academic gowns are usually of black material, and their pattern varies with the degree held. The bachelor gowns are relatively simple in design with a closed front and long, pointed, open sleeves. Master's gowns have an open front with long, closed sleeves, the arms extending through a slit at the elbow, giving the appearance of short sleeves. Doctoral gowns are the most elaborate with velvet panels down the open front and three velvet bars on the bell-shaped sleeves.

HOODS: The hoods, differing in length for the three degrees (bachelor's, master's, and doctor's), are lined with the colors of the institution that granted the degree. Hoods are also trimmed with the color that heralds the major field of learning.

CAPS: A square mortarboard is the approval headgear. The tassel, fastened to the middle point of the top of the cap, is black or the color appropriate to the subject; it may be gold if the holder has a doctor's degree. Memphis State University has adopted the practice of having candidates for the bachelor degree to wear the tassels on the right front side before degrees are conferred and to shift them to the left at the moment when the degrees are awarded to them.

Following is a list of the hood and tassel colors that represent several categories of learning:

| | |
|---|---------------|
| Arts, Letters, Humanities | White |
| Commerce, Accountancy, Business | Sapphire Blue |
| Economics | Copper |
| Education | Light Blue |
| Engineering | Orange |
| Fine Arts | Brown |
| Home Economics | Maroon |
| Journalism | Crimson |

| | |
|------------------------------|---------------|
| Law | Purple |
| Music | Pink |
| Nursing | Apricot |
| Oratory (Speech) | Silver Gray |
| Philosophy | Dark Blue |
| Physical Education | Sage Green |
| Science | Golden Yellow |
| Social Work | Citron |

All hoods are edged with the above colors. These same colors may be used for the facing and sleeve bars of doctoral gowns and tassels on bachelors' and masters' caps.

The lining of the hood indicates the university granting the degree—for Memphis State University, blue and gray. Among other institutional colors represented at this commencement are those for Arkansas, red and white; Chicago, maroon; Columbia, light blue and white chevron; Duke, royal blue with white chevron; Emory, navy blue with gold chevron; Harvard, crimson; Illinois, navy blue with two orange chevrons; University of Iowa, old gold; Kansas, navy blue with cardinal chevron; Northwestern, purple with gold chevrons; Ohio State, scarlet with silver gray chevron; Rice, silver above blue; Texas, white above orange; Vanderbilt, black and gold; Wisconsin, bright red; Yale, royal blue.

GRADUATION WITH HONORS

With the approval of the University Honors Council, Memphis State University offers several departmental honors programs. These programs involve a combination of special honors course work, independent study, and usually an honors thesis or project. Students who successfully complete a departmental honors program are awarded their degrees with honors in their area of concentration (e.g., With Honors in English).

WITH HIGH SCHOLARSHIP

Students who successfully complete the two-year program with a grade point of 3.25 or better are awarded the associate degree with high scholarship.

ALMA MATER

Stand firm, O Alma Mater,
Through all the years to come;
In days of youth and beauty
Thy halls have been our home.
In time of preparation
Great lessons didst thou teach
Til now, O Alma Mater,
The stars we'll strive to reach.

Lead on, O Alma Mater,
Thy sons to higher ways,
Give light and truth unto them
For all their coming days.
To thee we'll give all honor,
Our hopes abide in Thee,
For thou, O Alma Mater,
Hast made us ever free.

An Equal Opportunity University
